JANESVILLE SATURDAY, MAY 24

JANESVILLE AND ITS MANUFACTURING INTERESTS.

The business men's association of Janesville held a meeting on Friday evening to consider the question of providing the necessary railway tracks for the manufacturing establishments of the city. There seemed to be a deep interest taken in the question, as the association was well represented, and many citizens not members, were present.

It is an unfortunate fact that the large manufacturing concerns of this city are entirely destitute of railway tracks. In times like these when there is close and persistent competition in almost all manufacturing industries, the question of tracks is one of great importance. Carrying crude materials in large quantities from railway stations to the factories and shops, and by the same process carrying manufactured articles of great weight and bulk from these establishments to the shipping stations, is a delay and an expense that no one but manufacturing men can appreciate. Major Cobb, superintendent of the Janesville machine company, stated to the meeting that the company was compelled to cart over 3,000 tons of crude material from the railways to the works, and from 1,500 to 2,000 tons of manufactured products from the works to the railway stations. When all this cartage is added to the cost of manufacturing, it puts the Janesville manufacturers at a great disadvantage compared with those of other cities where railway track facilities are much better than our own. For instance, Beloit has spur tracks for every one of its leading manufacturing industries, while Janesville has not a single one.

It had been rumored for several days prior to the meeting, that the Janesville machine company contemplated removing to Aurora, where the belt line facilities are of special importance to manufacturers. This rumor was premature. The company, represented at the meeting by Senator Lovejoy, Mr. A. M. Valentine, Major Cobb, and others, does not want money and it does not seek for a bonus of any kind. It does not seek a bid to remain in Janesville. All it wants is such railway tracks as shall put it on the same footing with other heavy manufacturers in other cities. In other words, it wants no special favors for itself, and only those which shall benefit the entire city as much as the company.

Janesville is unfortunate also, in not being able to secure competing freight rates, both on crude material and on manufactured products. This discrimination against the city has a tendency to more or less cripple our manufacturing interests. It would seem that the interests of our manufacturers are the interest of the railway companies, and that both should go hand in hand. Mr. Rager and Mr. Eldredge thought there would be no trouble in securing satisfactory freight rates, and that so far as the spur tracks are concerned, the companies would build them when the right of way was secured. It is hoped that every business man in town will join heartily and unselfishly in this movement to secure for Janesville the facilities it needs that its manufacturing establishments may not be placed at a disadvantage with those of its neighboring cities.

THE PRACTICAL RESULT OF THE ORIGINAL PACKAGE DECISION.

For a time it was uncertain as to what would be the practical effect of the "original package" decision in the Iowa liquor case, but since the mist of doubt has partially vanished the condition of things in Iowa and Kansas will not be quite as bad as the decision at first seemed to threaten to make it. The courts in Iowa will take a common sense view of the supreme court decision, and will rule in keeping with the spirit of the higher court. The other day Judge Hindman, in charging the grand jury at Nevada, in Iowa, held that "the keeping of a place for the sale of liquors as a beverage is a nuisance, whether dealt out in original packages or in some other way, and that the late decision is not in conflict with the view."

The attorney general of Kansas, Mr. Kellogg, whose first opinion on the subject was printed in the Gazette several days ago, has now issued an official circular or letter of instructions to prosecuting attorneys throughout the state for their guidance in prosecuting all persons who attempt to sell liquor under the recent decision of the supreme court. Part of the letter reads as follows:

It is the foreign or non-resident importer who sells in the original package that is protected by the decision, and no one else. The decision, therefore, is not applicable to the case of a citizen and resident of Kansas who might become an importer of intoxicating liquors from another state into Kansas. The foreign or non-resident importer will be subject to arrest and punishment under the prohibition law the moment he steps beyond the narrow line of making the sale of intoxicating liquor in the unbroken original package in which it was imported. The sale of single bottles of beer, wine or other intoxicating liquors taken out of the case, or barrel, or box in which they with other bottles were imported is a violation of the law, and would subject the offender to fine and imprisonment where there is evidence that the person to sell intoxicating liquor in original packages is not a foreign or non-resident importer or the agent of one, or where there is evidence showing that the packages in the unbroken state the person should be properly arrested and placed upon trial. If the seller permits of the opening of the original package and the drinking of the liquor upon his premises he should be properly arrested and placed upon trial for keeping and maintaining a common nuisance.

To simplify these statements it may be said that a non-resident of Iowa or Kansas may import into either state packages of liquor for private use, but that when such packages reach their destination they cannot be sold for the law of both states prohibits such a selling, and with that law congress cannot interfere, neither does the supreme court attempt to interfere. Outside liquor dealers may import their goods to Iowa, the sale having been made in another state, but the supreme court does not say that when the goods reach Iowa, they may be resold; so that the prohibitory laws of Iowa and Kansas can be as strictly enforced now as before the decision. There does not seem to be much warm comfort for the liquor dealers after all in the ruling of the supreme court.

IF NOT, WHY NOT?

One of the important questions before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, is the revision of the creed. Theologically speaking, it is a great question for a great church to settle, but the chances seem to be that it won't be settled at the present time, although more than a majority of the presbyterians throughout the Union are in favor of a revision—a two-third vote being demanded.

The New York Evangelist, in discussing the creed question in connection with the wonderful preaching of Mr. Moody, under which thousands are converted, asks these questions:

Will some one of those who have attended these meetings be so good as to inform me, please, has he heard him at any time preach a sermon on election or predestination, on preterition or reprobation? If not, why not? If it be indeed a blessed truth that God "hath for his own glory forfeited some men to eternal death," why do not those who believe it preach it at any and all times? Or do they in their hearts (whatever they may profess to believe, and perhaps do believe, or at least think they believe) recognize the fact that such a doctrine is a doctrine in the midst of a revival would kill it stone dead? Why then keep in the confusion what is only a stumbling-block to those who are seeking to find the way of life?

Now for a few practical remarks. The purpose of the gospel is to save the world from sin. The purpose of preaching is to make men believe that they should repent and serve God. Now then, the gospel that Christ preached does not say a single word about God finding it a pleasurable thing to damn some souls and save others. It is not comforting to any man, woman, or child, to think that God from the beginning foreordained some of them to everlasting death.

If Mr. Moody or any other evangelist or any preacher, were to establish revival services on the doctrine that God so loved the world that he is going to damn some of his creatures, including innocent, beautiful and helpless infants, to everlasting damnation, he wouldn't convert a man, or woman, or child, in forty years. There is no comforting truth in such a gospel. It will drive men and women and children from the gospel. Then why keep it in the creed when ministers are ashamed of the dogma and dare not preach it?

It is a hopeful sign of the times that all the younger portion of the ministers of the Presbyterian church, favor the revision of the creed to conform to the gospel of Christ, and, some day, if not now, they will have a two-thirds vote.

General Alger met that intrepid republican leader Warner Miller, in a New York hotel the other day. "Well, senator, what have you got out of the administration?" said General Alger, banteringly, after their greeting. "Well, general, I've got more than you have," replied Mr. Miller, with a frozen smile. "I've got my telegram; the one addressed to me outside the breastworks, as you may remember." There is significance in this sharp reply of Warner Miller. That telegram was famous for its beauty, and Warner Miller deserved it, but alas! it is one thing to send a telegram, and another thing to act in response to the spirit of the message. Mr. Miller should return the telegram to the administration.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at the late meeting of conventions at Boscobel, on the 22, and is reproduced here by request:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Southwestern Wisconsin Congregational Convention, declare as our conviction, that the recent decision of the supreme court of Wisconsin in the Edgett school case, is an outrage upon the constitutional liberties of the friends of the bible in Wisconsin; is unconstitutional and is a direct assault upon the judicial argument; is dangerous in its teachings; is hostile to its principles to the foundation of our liberties; is contradicted by all precedent; is deserving of repudiation throughout this state, and should be speedily repudiated.

It is quite significant when for the first time in the history of the house judiciary committee a majority of the members agree to a favorable report upon a joint resolution (introduced by Representative Baker of New York) providing for a constitutional amendment to grant the right of suffrage to women. Twice before a majority of the committee has reported favorably on similar propositions, and one of these reports was drawn by the present speaker—Mr. Reed—but a majority could not be induced to take favorable action.

ALBERT VICTOR DETERMINED TO WED HIS COUSIN.

Would Rather Marry the Girl of His Choice Than Sit on the Throne of England.

LONDON, May 24.—It is whispered about in well-informed circles that the domestic difficulties in the royal family are approaching a climax. Prince Albert Victor of Wales has returned from India, and finding that no establishment had been provided for him in his absence he has not been at all backward in expressing his discontent. All suggestions of his marriage with Mary of Teck, are scouted by him, and he has informed his intimates that he not only corresponded with the Princess regularly during his Indian tour but, loyally carved both their names, in love like fashion, on the Temple of Delhi. He has made an offer to waive his rights to the throne as his father's eldest son in consideration that he be allowed to marry the girl of his choice and, have settled upon him an ample allowance. His brother, Prince George, who will be 25 on the 3d proximo, would in that case become the heir and in all probability the next king of England. The arrangement is considered the more desirable as Prince Albert Victor is both physically and mentally weak, while his brother is of sound constitution.

DID HE KILL HIS MISTRESS?

Paris Startled by Another Sensational Crime—Murder or Suicide?

PARIS, May 24.—Paris has been startled by another sensational crime, this time committed in the Hotel des Mathurins, de New York, No. 33 Rue des Mathurins. Since the exhibition of a commercial traveler named Blevinski, a middle-aged man of Polish extraction, who at one time held a commission in the Russian army, and whose mother has been lady of honor at the court of the Czar, has been in the habit of putting up at the Hotel des Mathurins several times a month. Blevinski used to receive visits from a good-looking woman, slightly over 20 years of age, who was supposed to be his mistress. It is now known that this visitor was Mme. Jeanne Wolosky. Mme. Wolosky lived on the best of terms with her husband in a comfortable apartment in the Rue Brochant, and M. Blevinski was a friend of the family. Thursday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock Mme. Wolosky called for Blevinski at the hotel and the pair shut themselves up together in the latter's room, and Mme. Wolosky was never again seen alive.

A servant entering Blevinski's room the next day found the half naked body of Mme. Wolosky lying on the floor in a pool of blood. Blevinski was arrested as he was walking calmly along the street. He maintains the woman killed herself because he declined to give her the money she required.

Glut of Beef in the London Market.

LONDON, May 24.—The great loss on the shipment of American cattle to England is explained by letters published in the newspapers here stating that there never was such a glut of beef in the London market as there is at the present time. There are now over 7,000 head of cattle at Deptford market, that must be killed within ten days, and in the meantime the beasts are crowded together in the closest quarters, their suffering being great.

THE SCHOOL BOOK TRUST.

It Practically Controls the School Book Business of the Country.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The school book trust has triumphed at last and at considerable cost. When the plan to control the sale of the text-books that educate millions of American children was laid before the publishers last winter the Harper Bros. of New York came out stoutly against it. They refused to enter the combine. The would neither be bought nor driven into it, and as they are immensely rich their opposition threatened to crush the "enterprise."

The trust gave up threats when they seemed useless and resorted to diplomatic methods. Its promoters were skillful, and in the last few days have been rewarded. They have landed the Harper Bros. The school-book department of the famous Franklin Square Publishing house has gone over bodily to the enemy. The price paid is said to have been between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

An overestimation of the importance of the deal is impossible. It gives to the trust command of 90 per cent of the school-book sales of the country.

FATAL SHOT A PRIEST.

The Rev. Father Barrett Shot Down by a Maniac.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The Rev. Father S. M. A. Barrett, pastor of St. Stephen's Catholic church, the victim of a shot in the abdomen fired by Patrick J. Keady, a maniac. There is one chance in ten thousand that the clergyman will recover.

Father Barrett was sitting in a low chair on the porch in front of the parish residence when Keady came along Sangamon street and stopped in front of the parish house. He said:

"How are you, Father?" replied the priest. "How are you?"

Keady then went on to tell about suffering from heart trouble.

"You had better get home and rest," said Father Barrett, after he had heard Keady's complaint.

"No, I'm going to die," declared Keady savagely, "and I want some people to know it with me."

The man started up the steps, drew a revolver, and still advancing toward the priest fired point blank at Father Barrett.

The priest fell to his knees, mortally wounded and then tried to crawl to the door of the house.

Directly after shooting the priest Keady quietly put his revolver in his pocket and walked away.

He was arrested soon afterward and locked up. From his manner it is evident that he is crazy.

WILL PREVENT FIGHTS.

Virginia Authorities Will Arrest the Sluggers Upon Entering the State.

RICHMOND, Va., May 24.—The announcement in the dispatches sent out from New York to the effect that John L. Sullivan had agreed to come to Virginia to fight Joe McAniff for $10,000 in July and the negro Jackson for $25,000 in August has attracted the attention of the officials in this state. It was represented that J. M. Bailey, one of the incorporators of the Virginia Sporting association, whose charter of incorporation was rushed through the legislature in its closing hours last season, had a conference with Sullivan with the result mentioned.

If any arrangements have been made with Sullivan and other prize-fighters to fight in this state it remains to be seen whether they will be permitted to do so. The unanimous sentiment of the authorities is that the people is against it.

Under the present law prize-fighting is punishable by imprisonment in the State prison for not less than five years and a fine of $1,000. If Sullivan or any other prize-fighters come to this state for the purpose of fighting they are almost certain to be arrested as soon as they put foot on Virginia soil, and the validity of the charter will then be tested.

CARTHAGE, Ill., May 24.—L. W. Potts, a citizen of Fulton county, was bitten by a mad dog a few days ago and came to Denver, where the Orton mad stone was applied to the wound on his hand. He said the Fulton county people are terror-stricken. A lad from Fulton county was also bitten. He applied the Orton stone. A posse of men on horseback ran down a mad dog near Plymouth, in this county, yesterday, and Allen Goldman of Fort Le killed a rabid dog after a battle with it. A number of them have been killed. Rabies have become almost epidemic. Dogs are being slaughtered by the score.
